

From Camprodon to Molló

The path that goes up from Camprodon to Molló takes you from village centres to the austerity of the open space, from the plain to the mountain, from housing to the green Pyrenees meadows. As the path leads up, the views get even better. The highest point on the route is 1 300 metres high, though the climb necessary is no small effort. But then, once there, the beauty is extraordinary.

Technical data

Length of walk: 10.770m

Maximum altitude: 1,357m

Minimum altitude: 946m

Maximum elevation: 588m

Ascent - Descent Gradient: 236m

Notes:
.....
.....
.....
.....
.....

Santa Cecília de Molló.

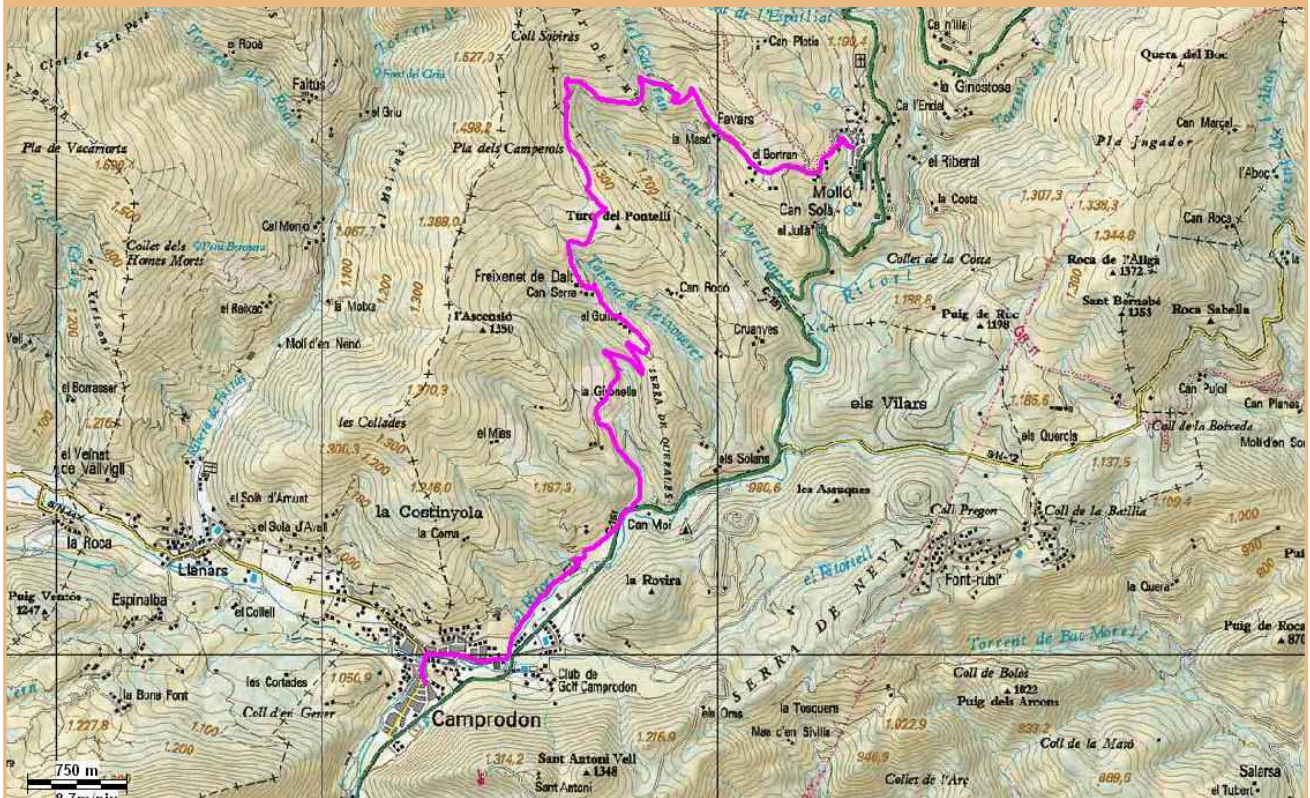

Molló covered with snow.

Complementary Information

Map

Level difference graphic

