

From Tavertet to Rupit (stage from Tavertet to Esquirol)

The route that joins Tavertet to Rupit is a classic walk even among great hikes. It is a perfect stage with all the ingredients to seduce walkers and excursionists. The incredible views from the rocky crags are beyond comparison; the masies we find along the path are unique and old. The vegetation is varied, green and lush, with thousand year old sessile and pedunculate oaks, exquisite European beeches, and shady glens. Finally we come to Rupit, as quaint as the Bethlehem stable, a perfect representation of the architecture of a Catalan mountain village with its rich cuisine and local, genuine products from the fields.

Technical data

Length of walk: 7.764m
Maximum altitude: 1.105m
Minimum altitude: 846m
Maximum elevation: 402m
Ascent - Descent Gradient: -18m

Notes:
.....
.....
.....
.....

Cingleres of Tavertet.

Waterfall of Moli Bernat, Tavertet.

Rupit.

Sant Joan de Fàbregues, s.XI.

Complementary Information

Map

Level difference graphic

